Major General Megan P. Tatu, U.S. Army Reserve Command Chief of Staff

Major General Tatu graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles where she attended on an Army Reserve Officer Training Corps scholarship. She earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science and was commissioned in the Signal Corps.

Throughout her more than 30 years active and reserve service, she has commanded at every echelon, from platoon to Division-level with duty in Germany, Iraq and the United States. She began her active military service as the signal platoon leader, 2/57 Air Defense Artillery Battalion, Ansbach, Germany and became the Executive Officer, Delta Company, 11th Air Defense Signal Battalion, Kaiserslautern, Germany. She later served as the Battalion Motor Officer, 5th Signal Battalion, Ft. Polk, Louisiana, followed by her assignment as the Chief, Testing Management, Military Entrance and Processing Station, Los Angeles, California.

Major General Tatu's principal staff assignments have been as the Detailed Inspector General, 311th Corps Support Command in Los Angeles, California; Division Chief, Reserve Personnel, 63D Regional Support Command, Los Alamitos, California; Chief, Individual Training and Assistant Deputy Chief of Staff, Training, 63D Regional Support Command; and Deputy Chief of Staff, G3, 63D Regional Readiness Command. In June 2006, she mobilized and deployed as the Commander, 164th Corps Support Group in support of OPERATION IRAQI FREEDOM 06-08. Upon return from theater, she served as the Deputy Commanding General, 311th Signal Command (Theater), Ft. Shafter, Hawaii. She also served as the Commander, Pacific Training Division, 75th Training Command (Mission Command) at Camp Parks, California, responsible for Mission Command Staff Training of military units for deployments and other missions. Prior to her assignment as the US Army Reserve Command Chief of Staff, she served as the Commanding General of the 79th Sustainment Support Command. Major General Tatu served on the Secretary of the Army's Army Reserve Forces Policy Committee from 2010-2013.

Her military education includes the Signal Officer Basic and Advanced Courses, Command and General Staff College, the Inspector General Course, the Army War College and CAPSTONE. Major General Tatu's awards and decorations include an Army Distinguished Service Medal, two Legion of Merit Medals, the Bronze Star Medal, five Meritorious Service Medals, the Iraq Campaign Medal, and the Global War on Terrorism Expeditionary Medal, among others.

Major General Tatu and her husband of over 30 years, Mike, have three grown sons; Glendon, Colin and Shane. Their middle son, Colin, is a Specialist in the Army, currently serving with the 4th Brigade Combat Team (Airborne), 25th Infantry Division, Joint Base Elmendorf-Richardson, Alaska.

Lisa Rosser, Lieutenant Colonel, U.S. Army (Ret.) Founder and CEO, The Value of a Veteran

Lisa Rosser is on a mission to help organizations improve their veteran recruiting and retention.

Lt. Col. Rosser's military career spans 22 years (both active and reserve), three continents, and four major deployments, including the Gulf War, Somalia,

Bosnia, and a 2 ½-year mobilization immediately following the events of 9/11. Her military career includes detailed work as a telecommunications officer and as an operations officer, and general work in the human side of the military - performance management, recruiting, staffing, training and skills development. Lt. Col. Rosser retired from the Army Reserve in 2011 at the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. Her civilian career included eight years with Accenture, a Global Fortune 500 consulting firm.

In 2007, Lt. Col. Rosser founded The Value Of a Veteran. As the founder and CEO, she is a consultant, author, speaker, and workshop leader on military hiring and retention strategy development. Lt. Col. Rosser delivers training workshops and seminars nationwide and consults with corporate, government, and higher education employers.

Charmetri Wrice-Bulluck, Adjunct Lecturer, Fayetteville State University/ CEO, AFVTER Duty Resource Services, Inc.

Retired U. S. Army Sergeant First Class Charmetri Wrice-Bulluck is a Wounded Warrior and an Army veteran with over 22 years of outstanding military service as a Combat Telecommunications Center Operator, an Army Instructor, and a Human Resource Supervisor working in her unit's Personnel Administration Center. During her time in service she sustained spinal and back injuries and retired in June of 2008.

Although Charmetri was on her way to becoming a RN, this dream would not be fulfilled due to her injuries. Never one to let barriers interfere with her career goals, Charmetri decided to pursue a career in social work in 2009. With the help of her advocates, Mr. Dwayne D. Beason Sr. and Mr. Gary Fountain, she decided to enroll into Fayetteville State University Social Work Masters Program. While attending school she was given the opportunity to attend the United Nations Social Work Day and learned about social work issues from around the world. She was also chosen to participate as an exchange program research participant student in Tanzania, Africa at the University of Dar Es Salaam. Also during her time in school, Charmetri was given the opportunity to advocate for Wounded Warriors on Capital Hill on behalf of the National Organization on Disability Wounded Warriors Careers Program. Charmetri graduated in 2011 from Fayetteville State University with her MSW and was inducted into the Phi Alpha Honor Society and the Veterans National Honor Society. In 2012, She went on to receive a MA in Health and Wellness from Liberty University.

Charmetri has been married for last 25 years to her husband and friend, Anthony. She is the mother of a son and three daughters - two of her adult daughters were born with special needs. She is the grandmother of two beautiful granddaughters and a friend and advocate to many.

Charmetri has served as an Army Wounded Warrior Program Advocate, a Certified Peer Support Specialist for Veterans, a Veterans Service Officer, a Cumberland County School System Exceptional Children's Advisory Board, a New Britain CT Head Start Policy Council Member, and a State of CT Legislative Intern for Representative Kevin Witkos of the 17th district. She currently serves on the Military Advisory Board for Fayetteville State University, a Mentor for the Cumberland County Veterans Treatment Court, a Part-time Professor for Fayetteville State University's Social Work Department. Charmetri is also the Founder/CEO of the recently formed Non Profit AFVTER DUTY RESOURCE SERVICE INC., which will assist fellow veterans and their families towards empowerment and reintegration.
